DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's September 11, 2007 Amendment has been reviewed. Claims 1-9 remain withdrawn from consideration as drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. Claims 10-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wolven et al. US 6,246,994 and further in view of Lyden, US 7,107,235.

Wolven discloses a distribution center, e.g. Figs. 1-4B, comprising at least one identified article, and an order receiving unit, e.g. 20, and inventory, e.g. information on the individual. Wolven does not disclose a shoe last.

Official Notice is taken that shoe distribution centers associated with customer last orders for footwear has been common knowledge in the shoe distribution art.

Lyden discloses such, e.g. Figs. 252, 323, 349 and related text.

To have provided shoe distribution centers associated with customer last orders for footwear with the custom ordering system of Wolven would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of Official Notice, e.g. Lyden. The motivation for having done such would have been to facilitate well known shoe sale commerce to increase sales.

Applicant's September 11, 2007 REMARKS have been reviewed, but are not convincing. Regarding custom footwear associated with shoe lasts and distribution centers, Lyden discloses such.

Regarding the statement "wherein each order identifies at least one last" no such particular language is present from claim 10. Custom footwear associated with a particular shoe last has been notoriously common knowledge in the shoe last art. To have provided such with Wolven as modified by Official Notice, e.g. Lyden, would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

To use the inventory of Wolven to have included a plurality of pieces of footwear in a variety of sizes and the manufacturing units associated therewith, would have been obvious in view of Official Notice, e.g. Lyden. Using a shoe last to remolded to various lengths and widths would have been an obvious variant when viewing Wolven, in view of Official Notice, e.g. Lyden.

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
